Cohesity Cloud Services: Enhance cyber resilience, optimize IT costs

Key Benefits

- Limitless potential for your data
- Greater business and IT agility
- Lower internal IT and operations burdens
- Improved ransomware protection, detection, and recovery

In an unpredictable economic and threat environment, managing your organization's data security and data management capabilities can overwhelm your resources and make your data more vulnerable. Cohesity Cloud Services—a portfolio of fully-managed, cloud-native, as-a-service (aaS) offerings—improves how you secure, protect, and manage all your data onsite and in the cloud. Our Cloud Services includes backup and recovery, cyber vaulting, disaster recovery, and threat defense for your organization's many cloud, SaaS, and on-premises applications—helping you meet changing business and regulatory requirements
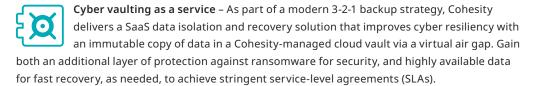

Eliminate silos with our Cloud Services offerings

Cohesity Cloud Services increases IT and business agility by reducing the need for valuable staff to have to support a patchwork of siloed solutions. Four specific Cloud Services also empower you to get more value from the data you protect.

Backup as a service – Simply better backup, Cohesity delivers secure cloud backup for cloud-native, SaaS, and on-prem data in a single backup service with subscription pricing. Enjoy modern data management and predictable costs while eliminating long procurement cycles and budget headaches. Ease operations with a single UI to manage all your data and mitigate risks with proven security, including immutability, data encryption with flexible key management, and strict access controls.

Cyber vaulting as a service – As part of a modern 3-2-1 backup strategy, Cohesity delivers a SaaS data isolation and recovery solution that improves cyber resiliency with an immutable copy of data in a Cohesity-managed cloud vault via a virtual air gap. Gain both an additional layer of protection against ransomware for security, and highly available data for fast recovery, as needed, to achieve stringent service-level agreements (SLAs).

"Cohesity backup as a service for M365 on AWS saves us the costs of buying and managing on-prem infrastructure, and doesn't clog our network bandwidth. Restores are at least as fast as they are from on-prem backups."

– François LePage, Cybersecurity and Infrastructure Manager, The Master Group

Threat defense as a service – Bolstering cyber resilience, Cohesity delivers an all-in-one threat protection and intelligence, scanning, cyber vaulting, and machine-learning (ML)-powered data classification service to identify ransomware threats and emerging attacks proactively. Your organization can detect risky behavior—and, if data is compromised, ensure recovery data is free from malware. Best of all, the Cohesity service complements your existing security operations and controls to amplify cyber defenses and response.

Disaster recovery as a service – Offering a seamless path to data restoration after an unplanned event, Cohesity delivers cloud-based orchestration for automated disaster recovery failover and failback. You simplify recovery and minimize downtime at a lower total cost of ownership by paying only for the cloud capacity you use. Eliminate costly extra hardware and recover with confidence to any point in time to meet SLAs.
